Gauhar Jaan lies buried unknown and unwept in Mysore Khabarastan

Sir,

Generally, I do not miss Girija Madhavan's "Looking back" write-ups as they offer interesting details in the background of her vast and varied experience. Similarly, I did not miss her write-up on the renowned Hindustani singer of the Mysore Royal Court, Gauhar Jaan (Star of Mysore dated July 13).

Earning fame and fortune, Gauhar Jaan led a lavish life with an ostentatious display of wealth and power. Her alliance, a third one, with one Abbas, younger than her, was a disaster. He is alleged to have cheated her and embezzled her funds. It led to a frustrating court case, which left the renowned singer in penury. It was Maharaja Krishnaraja Wadiyar, who invited the impoverished Gauhar Jaan to Mysore and appointed her as the court musician in 1928.

She was given a bungalow to stay in Nazarbad. The 'Queen of Khayal singer' died some 18 months later due to failing health in this bungalow. She did not die in the Mysore Palace as mentioned in the article.

It is also known she was buried at the Muslim Burial Grounds (Khabarastan) near Mysore Jail. An elderly Muslim gentleman had agreed to show me her burial. His son, he had told me, was a doctor in Mysore Medical College and he would take us to the Khabarastan in his car. I waited for his response, but, when I contacted him later, he was ill and bed-ridden.

Gauhar Jaan

My subsequent efforts to find out the exact burial in the Khabarastan were not fruitful. Unfortunately, the aged gentleman had not revealed his son's name to me.

The renowned musician who took the music world in awe earning accolades lies buried unknown and unwept in the Mysore Khabarastan.

Early morning trains to Bengaluru stranded for over two hours

Mysuru, July 18 (RK&DM)- Thousands of passengers of Bengaluru-bound and Mysuru-bound early morning trains were severely inconvenienced this morning as trains running on both sides got delayed by more than 2 hours after they were stranded between Mandya and Mysuru Railway Stations on the Mysuru-Bengaluru route, due to the Underbridge works taken up near Mahaveer Circle Railway Gate (Level crossing gate-73) at Mandya city.

As the trains were left stranded at Stations coming between Mysuru and Mandya, the irked passengers took the Railway staff to task for not announcing the delay in advance.

Details: The Railways, which had taken up Underbridge works at Mahaveer Circle had reportedly issued a prior notification that works would be taken up, which may result in late running of trains. The notification had said that the works would be complete by 5.30 this morning. But as it could not be completed, the Railways were forced to halt early morning trains running between the two cities, to enable completion of pending works.

The Vishwamanava Express, which left Mysuru at its scheduled time of 5.50 am, was reportedly stopped at the outer of Mandya Station while the trains that followed it — Passenger train leaving Mysuru at 6.10 am was stopped at Srirangapatna and Chamundi Express, which left the city at 6.45 am as usual, at Naganahalli Station — much to the dismay of passengers.

Upon learning that the trains would be delayed for at least 2 hours, the angry passengers entered into heated argument with the Railway staff, who had a hard time in convincing the passengers.

On the other side, Kaveri Express, coming from Chennai to Mysuru, was stopped at Pandavapura Railway Station, which triggered anger among the passengers, who were severely inconvenienced by the unexpected delay. While some passengers alighted from the trains and took other means of transport, several others waited with patience for the trains to resume their journey.

However, the running of trains returned to normalcy after 9 am as the Railway officials suspended work and allowed free movement of trains, it is learnt.

Dr. C.N. Manjunath to continue as Jayadeva Hospital Director

Dr. C.N. Manjunath

Bengaluru, July 18 - The State Government on Monday extended the tenure of Bengaluru's Sri Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research Director Dr. C.N. Manjunath by six months.

Dr. Manjunath has been serving as the Director of the Institute (popularly known as Jayadeva Hospital) since 2007 and his tenure had come to an end last year. But the then BJP Government extended his tenure by a year and accordingly his term was to end on July 19, 2023.

Now, the current Siddharamaiah Government has extended his tenure by six more months in view of the construction of 371-bed Jayadeva Hospital Unit at Kalaburagi.

"The new hospital will cater to six districts of Kalyana Karnataka and I have to make it functional within six months. I will also look after the existing centres where the caseload is rising. We are treating around 7 lakh outpatients annually," said Dr. Manjunath.

Asked whether he is likely to get another extension once he completes the project, he said, "I will not take it."

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Rocket scientists from ISRO are captured on camera going to a temple before the launch of Chandrayaan-3. They are immediately subjected to ridicule on Twitter, from 'Where is your science if you have to pray to God?' to accusations of saffronisation. Of course, one may argue pretty much everything is subject to derision on Twitter and virtually everything is blamed somehow on the political party you did not vote for. So there is always the hesitance to comment on the latest outrage on social media since by the time you finish writing on it, there is a new outrage, but I have to say something here, as a scientist and agnostic.

I pray. I pray not because I believe someone upstairs is listening to me. I pray because I am listening to myself. That's the purpose of prayers: to soothe oneself in the face of the randomness of the universe. It is not because I believe that there is someone above who listens to me, cares for my insignificant personal problems or can be propitiated in the way political parties bless those who buy their electoral bonds.

Similarly, when the scientists of ISRO pray, it is not because they do not believe in their own science or are tied to superstition. They pray to calm themselves down. As scientists, they know that space travel's success is fundamentally dependent on many uncontrollable variables. So what the prayer really is, is self-affirmation: 'I have done all I can. Now I can do no further.' The fact that there are people who would grudge them even that is a reflection of where we are now politically.

When I pray, it is not because I believe my prayer will make things happen how I want them to. I have lived too many years, had too many lousy mathematics exams and been passed over too many times to know that the dice won't roll my way because I am asking a higher authority to give it a nudge to six. But still, the act of closing my eyes, shutting out all sensory input and focusing myself on the insecurity at hand gives me the only succour I can expect, even if for a fleeting moment. That of hope. — Arnab Ray in The Times of India

Metal detector saves beach proposal

South Carolina: A vacationing teenager with a metal detector came to the rescue when a dropped ring nearly foiled a proposal on a South Carolina beach.

The Myrtle Beach Police Department said a Tennessee man flagged down officers and explained he had been preparing to propose to his girlfriend when he realized the ring had been dropped somewhere in the sand.

Police, including a K9 named Goggles, set about searching for the ring and soon received an offer of help from Isaiah Krekeler, 15, who was visiting Myrtle Beach from Ohio.

Krekeler had brought his metal detector for some beach treasure-hunting, and he was able to locate the ring in under a minute.

The teenager said he only wants one reward from the couple. "If they have a son, name the son after me," he said.

Theatre personality Mandya Ramesh (centre) playing the cymbal at the valedictory of theatre and dance training camp at Kirurangamandira in Kalamandira premises here recently as Kannada and Culture Joint Director V.N. Mallikarjunaswamy and others look on.

Mysuru, July 18 (MK&DM)- Maintaining that theatre is one of the best means of communication, noted actor and theatre personality Mandya Ramesh said that Medical, Engineering and other professional students too should get theatre training.

He was speaking at the valedictory of the 15-day theatre and dance training camp organised by Desiranga Samskrutika Samsthe in association with the Directorate of Kannada and Culture and Maharani Women's College of Commerce and Management, at Kirurangamandira in Kalamandira premises here recently.

Maintaining that theatre education makes us complete, he opined that engaging with theatre and arts will help in eradication of social inequality to a large extent.

Noting that reading and social engagement play a key role in art expressing itself, he recalled the achievement of thespian Dr. Rajkumar. He pointed out that though Dr.Rajkumar was less educated, he had a vast knowledge of Culture, Mythology, History and Literature, which he acquired from experts in the field. A great actor that he was, Dr. Rajkumar prepared himself for every role or character that he played and also used to learn about its background, he said.

Referring to Primary and Secondary Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa's statement that Music teachers will be appointed, Ramesh wondered how many knowledgeable teachers the Minister would get.

Kannada and Culture Joint Director V.N. Mallikarjunaswamy said that learning Folklore, which forms the basis for many art forms, is like earning a special qualification. He called upon the students to make best use of such camps which are both refreshing and entertaining.

Students, who participated in the camp, presented folk arts such as Kamsale, Dollu Kunitha, Puja Kunitha and Kolata.

College's Kannada Department Head Dr. K.E. Govindegowda, Desiranga Samskrutika Samsthe Secretary Krishna Janamana, Convenor Dr. Dinamani and others were present.

'Leaning Towers of Pisa' in City?

Sir,

Quite often reference is made to the 'Leaning Tower of Pisa' (of Italy) to speak about engineering skill that has withstood the test of centuries.

Our Mysuru is also not lagging behind with its various leaning poles of signal lights, lamp posts, which instead show the apathy of the authorities concerned and endanger public.

Hope the authorities concerned will swing into action before any tragedy occurs?

Former Kerala CM Oommen Chandy passes away at 80

Thiruvananthapuram, July 18 (UNI)- Former Kerala Chief Minister and senior Congress leader Oommen Chandy died following prolonged illness at Chinmaya Hospital in Bengaluru early this morning, his family said.

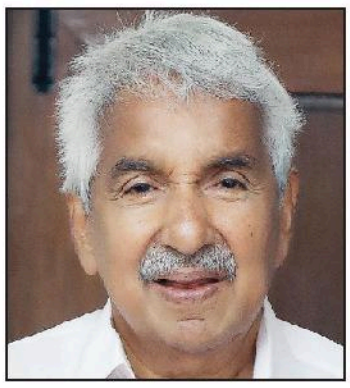
Oommen Chandy, 80, leaves behind his wife Mariamma Oommen and children Achu Oommen, Maria Oommen and Chandy Oommen. The Kerala Government has declared a three-day State mourning and a holiday today as a mark of respect to the departed leader.

Chandy Oommen confirmed his father's demise in a Facebook post, "Appa has passed away." He was undergoing medical treatment in Bengaluru for the last several months and breathed his last at 4.25 am.

The two-time Congress CM completed 50 years as MLA and was party's most popular face in Kerala, representing his home town Puthupally in Kottayam without a break since 1970. He served as Congress Working Committee member and AICC Incharge of Andhra Pradesh.

Born to Karottu Vallakalil K.V. Chandy and Baby Chandy on October 30, 1943, Chandy was a seasoned administrator and skilful politician and handled a great variety of responsibilities during over half a century old political career, that had its share of ups and downs.

He was the Unit President of KSU (Kerala Students Union) at St. George High School, Puthupally and State President of the organisation (1967-69). He was elected as President of the State Youth Congress in 1970.



Oommen Chandy

He completed his PU from CMS College, Kottayam and did BA in Economics from St. Berchmans College, Changanassery. He took a Bachelor's degree in Law (LLB) from Government Law College, Ernakulam.

He was Minister for Labour from Apr. 11, 1977 to Apr. 25, 1977 in the first K. Karunakaran Ministry and continued holding same portfolio in succeeding first A.K. Antony Ministry till Oct. 27, 1978. He was given Home portfolio in second Karunakaran Ministry from Dec. 28, 1981 to Mar. 17, 1982. Again, he was sworn-in as Minister in fourth Karunakaran Ministry on July 2, 1991. He was in-charge of Finance, till his resignation from the cabinet on June 22, 1994 due to differences with the CM.

In 2004, following the resignation of A.K. Antony as CM following the party's poor performance in Lok Sabha elections and factional politics, Chandy became his successor for a short duration (Aug. 2004 to May 2006).

Chandy was the Leader of the Opposition in the 12th Kerala Legislative Assembly. Under him, the Congress-headed United Democratic Front (UDF) marked victories in LS polls 2009, gaining 16 out of 20 Constituencies in Kerala.

UDF secured a slender margin in 2011 Assembly polls and Chandy became the CM for the second time. Congress-led UDF candidates won 72 seats against 68 seats grabbed by the Left Democratic Front (LDF).

In 2021, Chandy won the Assembly poll from Puthupally by defeating CPI-M's Jaick C. Thomas by over 9,000 votes. That was his 12th consecutive win from the seat and he remained a legislator till the end.

Protesters demand reopening of Sowjanya's murder case

Mysuru, July 18 (MTY&BCT)- A massive protest was held in the city yesterday demanding justice for Sowjanya, a student who was raped and murdered 11 years ago. Under the banner of the Pragatipara Sanghatanegala Okkoota (Federation of Progressive Organisations), the protest was organised by Odanadi Samsthe (NGO) and other progressive organisations.

Marching through the city, from Nanjaraja Bahadur Choultry to Gandhi Square, protesters demanded that the culprits responsible for the heinous act be brought to justice. They also pressed the Government to reopen the case.

The shocking incident unfolded in October 2012 when 17-year-old Sowjanya, a II PU student, disappeared while returning home from college in Ujire, Dakshina Kannada district. The discovery of her severely violated body at Mannasanka, near Dharmasthala, sent shockwaves through the community.

In response to intense protests, the case was eventually handed over to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI). However, after an arduous 11-year legal battle, the CBI Court recently acquitted the accused, Santhosh Rao, due to a lack of substantial evidence.

The protesters voiced grave allegations against Police, accusing them of deliberately destroying evidence. They also expressed their deep anguish and frustration as Sowjanya's parents faced devastating losses with the acquittal of Santhosh Rao, who is believed to be mentally unstable. Protesters said that the law must not allow culprits to evade justice.

During the protest, Stanley of the NGO stressed the dire need for justice. He declared, "As responsible citizens of this country, it is our duty to condemn this incident. We will not rest until justice is served. We are unwavering in our determination to uncover the truth and ensure that real culprits are thoroughly investigated and held accountable. We urge the Chief Minister and Home Minister to reopen the case and initiate a comprehensive reinvestigation."

Sowjanya's mother Kusumavathi too participated in the protest, expressing her pain and frustration over the prolonged quest for justice. Sanjay Rao (the brother of Santhosh Rao), former Rangayana Directors C. Basavalingaiah and H. Janardhan, Parashuram of the NGO, retired VC Dr. Sabeeha Bhoomigowda, State SDPI President Abdul Majeed, Dalit leader Battaiah Kote, Prof. Kalachannegowda and others took part.

Accused on the run since 20 years finally arrested

Doreswamy

Mysuru, July 18 (RK&KS)- A man accused of stealing sandalwood pieces, who had failed to attend Court proceedings and was on the run since 20 years, has been finally arrested by city's Krishnaraja (KR) Police.

The accused is Doreswamy of Srirampura village, Chunchanakatte hobli in K.R. Nagar taluk. He was arrested by the Police on July 4 at Karighatta village in Srirangapatna taluk and was produced before a Court, which remanded him to judicial custody.

A case under Karnataka Forest Act 86 and 87 and IPC Section 379 was registered by KR Police against Doreswamy on Mar. 27, 2001. But since 2003, Doreswamy failed to attend the Court proceedings and had gone absconding.

When KR Assistant Sub-Inspector (ASI) Chandranayak and Head Constable Harish, who were appointed to trace Doreswamy, went to Srirampura village and enquired about him (Doreswamy), they learnt that he was missing since 20 years.

Continuing their operation to trace Doreswamy, the Police, based on the clues, traced Doreswamy at Karighatta and succeeded in arresting him on July 4, 2023.

DCP (Crime and Traffic) S. Jahnavi and KR Sub-Division ACP Gangadharaswamy guided KR Inspector Mahesh, ASI Chandranayak and Head Constable Harish in the nabbing operation.

Human-elephant conflict in Kodagu

Thermal drone pinpoints elephant presence at night

Helps Forest Officers effectively plan operations and drive pachyderms back into jungle

Kushalnagar, July 18 (Akshay &BCT)- Amid the rise in the human-elephant conflict in some forested pockets of Kodagu along the Nagarahole Tiger Reserve, the Forest Department has deployed a hi-tech thermal drone to keep track of daytime and nocturnal movements of wild elephants inside forest ranges and human habitats.

The drone technology was first used in Nagarahole to control forest fires and now, there are three such drones there. However, a need was felt to acquire a thermal drone due to the increasing human-elephant conflict.

Sources said while managing the human-elephant conflict, the safety of elephants and also humans has been a major concern for the Forest Department and the wildlife activists as deaths of animals are being frequently reported from various parts of the district as they come into contact with live electricity wires.

Due to the need, one thermal drone was brought to Nagarahole in January this year at a cost of Rs. 25 lakh. Monitoring the movement of the elephants has always been a challenge for the Department amid several limitations.

"Now we have been using a thermal drone and it detects live objects through their body temperature and those get flashed on the computer screen. It gives us a proper count of a herd and the number of calves," Nagarahole Tiger Reserve Director Harshakumar Chikkanaragund told Star of Mysore.

The drone can also be used to drive the elephant herd away from a potential danger area as its location can be pinpointed. The drones are not only helping the staff determine the herd composition and drive them in a desirable direction but also prevent casualties.

Heat signatures of living species

Unlike drones with normal cameras that rely on light signals to capture images, thermal drone cameras pick up heat signatures of living species in motion. This makes thermal drones ideal for deployment after sunset, complementing the use of normal drones during daylight hours.

"By accurately detecting herd movements, determining their composition and tracking elephant directions, objective decisions can be made for deploying elephant squads. Thermal drone cameras have become an invaluable asset for nighttime operations. They enhance situational awareness, ensuring efficient management of wild elephant movements and mitigating potential conflicts," Harshakumar added.

According to Deputy Range Forest Officer (DRFO) Yogeshwari Desai, who has been trained to use the thermal drone, the machine has a 2-km range and can fly 400 metres above the surface. It has a powerful thermal sensor and night vision 'positive image' technology cameras. It is convenient to use and the exact location can be ascertained. If one has to do physical combing even for a 2-km range, a lot of manpower and equipment is needed," she explained.

Easy navigation inside woods

The camera on the drone operates based on the location information obtained via GPS, enabling easy navigation of the elephants' whereabouts. Additionally, the drones produce minimal noise, allowing the staff to monitor animals such as elephants, tigers and other wildlife without causing any disturbance.

During the night, the thermal drones conduct operations using radar, ensuring that local residents are not inconvenienced. Once the specific location of the elephants is identified, the information is sent to the Task Force and the teams proceed to drive the elephants back into the forest.

It also becomes easy to spot the origin of forest fire and extinguishers can be rushed to the place, she said. The drone has a backup of 40 minutes and after that, the battery must be charged. The drone has three batteries.

Trained team

Before the drone was deployed, a New Delhi-based team trained eight operators at Nagarahole. They are DRFO Jyothi Kumar and Forest Guard Sunil Nellebidu (Antharasanthe), DRFO B.B. Mahesh Kumar (D.B. Kuppe), DRFO Chethan Kumar Kolur (Nagarahole), DRFO Yogeshwari Desai (Anechowkur), DRFOs K.K. Arpitha and H.N. Madhuprasad (Hunsur) and Forest Guard Basavaraju (Veeranahosahalli).

The operators were trained for six days at Dammanakatte, Veeranahosahalli and Moorkal ranges that abut human habitats. The Nagarahole Director further said that they will seek aid from wildlife-related organisations, NGOs and firms to sponsor more such thermal drones for effective management of conflict zones.

Swadesh Darshan Scheme

Works on giving new look to Dasara Expo Grounds by year end: MP Simha

Mysuru, July 18 (BLU&BS)- Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha has said "With Mysuru selected under Central Government's Swadesh Darshan Scheme to develop theme-based tourist destinations, the works are expected to be launched by the end of this year."

Speaking to media persons after a meeting held at Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA) Office in Dasara Exhibition Grounds here this morning, MP Simha said that "Mysuru and Hampi are the only two places in Karnataka to be selected for development under the Scheme. The project is estimated to cost Rs. 80 crore and the works related to the preparations of Detailed Project Report (DPR) are underway."

In this backdrop, it is intended to give a new look to Dasara Exhibition Grounds to make it a hub of activities throughout the year attracting tourists and locals, rather than organising the exhibition only during Dasara. The DPR will focus on giving impetus to promotion of indigenous products of Mysuru like Mysore Silk, Mysore Betel leaves and Mysore Sandal among several others.

Cultural Centre near M.G. Road

It is also being planned to build a Cultural Centre on 13 acres of land near M.G. Road, followed by giving a further push to organising traditional wrestling bouts, which are all being included in the DPR. The first phase of works of drafting DPR is expected to be completed within 20 days followed by the related procedures to seek the approvals of those concerned, which is expected to consume six months, by the time of which the works will be launched, assured MP Pratap Simha.

About major development works planned at Chamundi Hill, MP Simha said, "Apart from Rs. 45 crore available under Centre's PRASHAD (Pilgrimage Rejuvenation And Spiritual Augmentation Drive) Scheme for Chamundi Hill, the Chamundeshwari temple alone has Rs. 150 crore funds. The available funds should be utilised for developing the shrine in a holistic way."

Outsiders properties at Ch. Hill

Simha appealed to the Government to buy back the properties of outsiders at the hill top, as there has been a rise in number of people from Bengaluru buying plots at Chamundi Hill and building new structures. Barring those of locals, the properties of outsiders should be bought by the Government itself so that the sanctity of the shrine does not suffer a jolt.

Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Karnataka Exhibition Authority G. Rajesh Gowda and other officials were present at the meeting.

UPA Vs NDA meet today

Meanwhile, the BJP aims to retain its existing allies and establish new alliances.

The NDA meeting in New Delhi at 4 pm today will be chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. The meeting is being organised to mark the completion of 9 years of the Central Government under PM Modi.

The first day of the Opposition party's meeting started with the dinner meeting yesterday hosted by Chief Minister Siddharamaiah. The name of the United Progressive Alliance (UPA), led by the Indian National Congress, is likely to be renamed.

Four new names for UPA have been sent to UPA Chairperson Sonia Gandhi and there is a possibility that the final name will be announced today.

Sources said all parties have been asked to suggest the name of the front, which should have the word 'India' in it. The tag line will be "United we stand".

The UPA was formed in 2004 and is the coalition of Centre-Left political parties in India. It was formed with a coalition of around 10 political parties with Sonia Gandhi as its Chairperson. There is a chance that Sonia Gandhi will be named the President of the new Front and Nitish Kumar the Convenor, sources said.

Besides Sonia Gandhi, Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge, Rahul Gandhi, Chief Ministers M.K. Stalin, Nitish Kumar, Arvind Kejriwal, Hemant Soren, Mamata Banerjee and RJD Chief Lalu Prasad are among those taking part in the two-day meet. Sharad Pawar, whose party underwent a split earlier this month with the rebellion of nephew Ajit Pawar, has also joined the meeting today.

Among others at the meeting hosted by Siddharamaiah were Bihar Deputy Chief Minister Tejashwi Yadav (RJD), Akhilesh Yadav (SP), Uddhav Thackeray (Shiv Sena-UBT), Farooq Abdullah (NC) and Mehbooba Mufti (PDP), besides Sitaram Yechury (CPI-M), D. Raja (CPI), Jayant Chaudhary (RLD), MDMK MP Vaiko and AAP MP Raghav Chadha.

The dinner meeting saw West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee and Sonia Gandhi seated next to each other. They had a one-on-one conversation earlier that lasted almost 20 minutes, delaying the beginning of the meet, sources said.

While the two leaders are known to share a good rapport, relations between the Congress and Banerjee's Trinamool Congress had soured lately. But both parties have moved past that, agreeing that defeating the BJP next year is priority to save democracy and federalism.

'Kattar Bhrashtachari Sammelan': PM

Ahead of the NDA meet, Prime Minister Narendra Modi attacked the Opposition meeting calling the Opposition parties meet as an alliance of 'corruption and dynasty politics.' Modi said people see it as a gathering of the 'corrupt' and alleged that these parties provide cover to each other when their corruption is exposed.

He took a jibe at the Opposition parties, using words like 'jamat' and 'kunba' and urged people to stay alert. "People of the country say that this is a 'Kattar bhrashtachar sammelan'... (meeting of the hardcore corrupt). Another speciality of this meeting is that if someone is out on bail in a corruption of crores of rupees, they are seen with great respect. If the entire family is out on bail, they are more honoured...If someone insults a community and is punished by the court, he is honoured," he said.

The motto of these parties is "Of the family, for the family". In democracy, it is of the people, by the people and for the people. But for the dynastic political parties, it is of the family, by the family and for the family. Family first, nation nothing. This is their motto," the PM said.

Eviction of footpath vendors on Raja Marga, near Mysore Palace tomorrow: Mayor

Mysuru, July 18 (MK,RK&BS)- Following complaints of footpath encroachment by vendors around Mysore Palace and Sayyaji Rao Road (Raja Marga) in the heart of the city, Mayor Shivakumar has said that the clearance drive will be conducted tomorrow (July 19).

This follows an inspection carried out by Corporators and Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Officers under the leadership of Mayor last evening.

The inspection was carried out on footpath near KR Circle, Sayyaji Rao Road up to Government Ayurveda College Circle, inside Makkaji Chowk and around the Palace, following which the Mayor directed the Officers to clear the vendors doing business encroaching upon footpath space.

It was also directed to allow vendors to set up stalls only on one side of the footpath on Sayyaji Rao Road (abutting Devaraja Market) and clear the vendors on the other side of the footpath.

Mayor Shivakumar told Star of Mysore that "Following the hue and cry of Corporators in the recent Council meeting demanding action against unabated menace of footpath vendors on Sayyaji Rao Road and around Palace severely inconveniencing the public and tourists alike, I had assured to carry out the inspection. Accordingly the inspection is conducted along with the Commissioner. It is difficult to access the road to Sayyaji Rao Road and Makkaji Chowk. So, I have directed the Officers to clear footpath vendors on one side of the footpath on Sayyaji Rao Road and the footpath vendors around Mysore Palace."

The clearance drive will start from around Mysore Palace. While on one side of the footpath on Sayyaji Rao Road, attached to Devaraja Market, fruits and vegetables are sold, on the other side garments are sold. It has become inevitable to evict them as pedestrians are finding it difficult to make way among garment and other vendors, he stated.

"A footpath clearance drive had been undertaken earlier, only to see the return of vendors in the later days. This time, we have decided to take up the clearance drive with the support of all the Corporators by pondering over the issue in the Council meeting. As the handicrafts and several other attractive items are sold within the Palace precincts, there is no need to sell them on the footpath, which is proving troublesome for tourists," he said.

MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy, Deputy Mayor Dr. G. Roopa, MCC Finance Standing Committee Chairperson Shanthakumari, Chairman of Public Health, Education and Social Justice Standing Committee Savitha, Corporators M.D. Nagaraj and C. Vedavathi, MCC Health Officer Dr. D. G. Nagaraj, Environment Engineers S. Mytri and Jyothi were present.

DC takes stock of sewage discharge into Hebbal Lake

Residents complain about lack of maintenance after Lake rejuvenation by Infosys Foundation

Mysuru, July 18 (SBD&BCT)- Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. K.V. Rajendra visited the Hebbal Lake yesterday evening to assess its development and management. Accompanying the DC were officials from Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), Hootagalli City Municipal Council, Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB), Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB), Infosys Foundation and Hebbal Lake Conservation Committee.

The impressive 54-acre Hebbal Lake was revitalised through a substantial investment of Rs. 107 crore by the Infosys Foundation. As part of their Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) initiative, funds were utilised to restore, enhance and replenish the Lake by blocking channels carrying industrial and commercial waste.

The Foundation collaborated with MCC to incorporate various initiatives and technologies, including the establishment of six Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) that efficiently recycle sewage before releasing it into the Lake. These STPs handle over 90 lakh litres of polluted water daily, ensuring the treated water flows back into the Lake.

Following its rejuvenation, the maintenance of Hebbal Lake was entrusted to the Infosys Foundation. Additionally, the Foundation facilitated the development of support infrastructure such as walkways, permanent fence walls, lighting, waste management systems, drinking water facilities, parks and tree covers as part of the Lake rejuvenation project.

During the interaction, Hebbal Lake Conservation Committee Chairman Ravi Kumar informed the DC that the local administration had taken over the Lake's maintenance. He emphasised that the Lake had been diligently managed thus far and it was crucial for the responsible officials to fulfil their cleanliness duties.

Considering the concerns raised, it was proposed to construct two toilets in the vicinity of the Lake. The DC was informed that while the STP effectively manages sewage flow from several inlets, a major inlet continues to contribute pollution by carrying sewage, plastic and animal waste into the Lake daily. Despite a protective wall to prevent plastic entry, it is noticed that during heavy rainfall and increased water flow, plastic waste still finds its way into the Lake.

To address untreated rainwater inflow, filters have been installed at designated locations. The DC directed the officials to ensure the proper discharge of the other rainwater stream falling under their jurisdiction. Local residents strongly urged the prevention of disposable items like plastic and liquor bottles from entering the Lake. In response, the DC, alongside the officials in charge of local administration, pledged to conduct regular inspections and take necessary actions to address the issue.

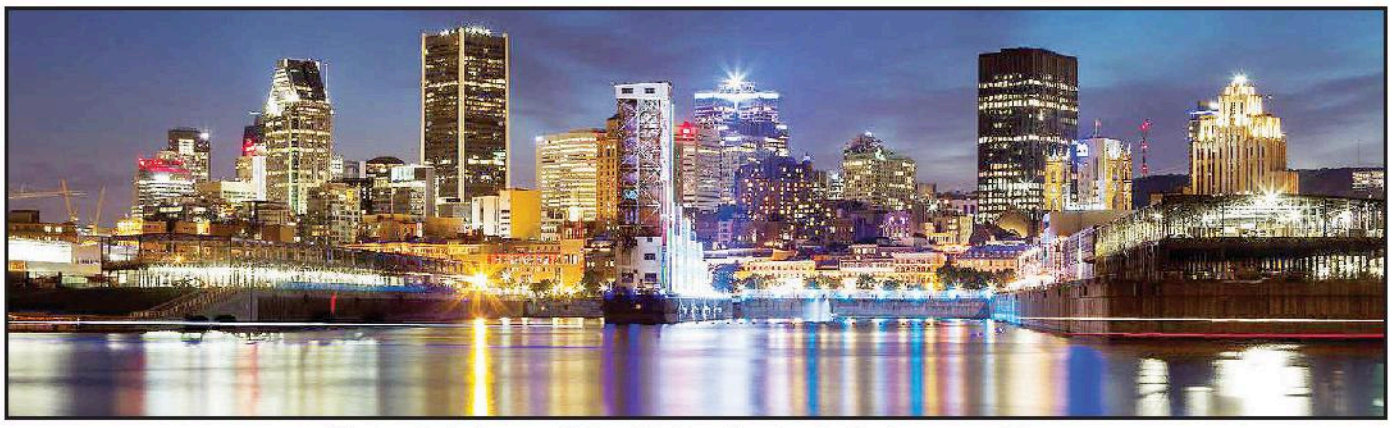
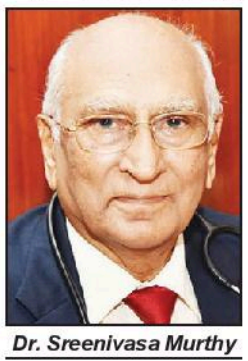
Magical Montreal

By Dr. C.D. Sreenivasa Murthy



Montreal skyline at night with its reflection in St. Lawrence River.



Dr. Sreenivasa Murthy

Recently I had an opportunity to visit Montreal for a second time after twenty-one years and it has changed a lot in the past two decades. Montreal is a vibrant and cosmopolitan city with a rich history and culture. It is the second-largest city in Canada and the largest city in the province of Quebec. Quebec was originally part of New France (French: Nouvelle-France) which was the territory colonised by France in North America. Montreal is located on an island in the Saint Lawrence River and it is home to a diverse population of over 17 lakh people.

Canada is a bilingual nation with English and French as the official languages. Quebec is a large and the only French speaking province in Canada. French is the most spoken language in Montreal, but English is largely understood.

Montreal is a very diverse city with people of all ethnicities and races living in the city. When I took a taxi the first time it was a Moroccan driver, next time it was a man from Iran and the Uber from the hotel to the airport was driven by a man of Bangladeshi origin.

The history of Montreal spans over 400 years and is a rich and diverse one. The city was founded in 1642 by French colonists, and quickly became a major fur trading centre. In the 18th century, Montreal was captured by the British and became a major industrial and commercial centre. In the 19th century, Montreal was the largest city in Canada and played a major role in the development of the country. In the 20th century, Montreal became a major centre for culture and education and hosted the 1976 Summer Olympics.

POPULAR TOURIST DESTINATION

Montreal is a very popular tourist destination and it offers something for everyone. Visitors can explore the city's historic Old Montreal, visit its world-class museums or enjoy its vibrant night-life. Montreal is also home to a number of professional sports teams.

It is a predominantly Catholic city and home to many grand and beautiful Churches. The grandest of these is the Notre-Dame Basilica (French: Basilique Notre-Dame de Montréal) in the historic district of Old Montreal. It is a masterpiece of Gothic Revival architectural style and was built in 1824-1829. Its twin towers remind us of the renowned Notre-Dame Basilica of Paris. The Basilica is very large and can seat 3,200 people. The Pipe Organ has 6,500 pipes, weighs 25 tons and is one of the biggest in the world. The altar, the stained glass windows and the forest of wooden hand-carved brightly painted pillars make a grand spectacle, particularly during the sound and light show.

Saint Joseph's Oratory of Mount Royal (French: Oratoire Saint-Joseph du Mont-Royal) is a Roman Catholic minor basilica and national shrine located on Mount Royal's Westmount Summit in Montreal. It is a National Historic Site of Canada and is Canada's largest church, with one of the largest church domes in the world. The Oratory is the highest building in Montreal, a popular pilgrimage site and over twenty lakh people visit the Oratory each year.

VAST UNDERGROUND CITY

Montreal, like most of Canada, gets harsh and punishing winters. To escape these rigours, the city has constructed a vast Underground City. Also known as RÉSO, Montreal's Underground City is a vast network of tunnels and passages that connect over 1,600 buildings, including hotels, office buildings, shopping malls, restaurants and theatres. It is the largest Underground City in the world, and it is a popular destination for tourists and locals alike.

The Underground City was built in the early 1960s as a way to protect people from the harsh punishing Canadian winters. It was also seen as a way to improve the flow of traffic and to create a more pedestrian-friendly environment.

The Underground City is divided into three main sections: The Ville-Marie district, the Vieux-Montréal district and the Quartier des spectacles district. The Ville-Marie district is the largest section and it is home to most of the major shopping malls and office buildings. The Vieux-Montréal district is the oldest section and it is home to many historic buildings and restaurants. The Quartier des spectacles district is home to the city's theatres, concert halls and museums.

WHAT IS IN UNDERGROUND CITY

The Underground City is open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. It is a great place to escape the cold weather, to do some shopping or to simply get around the city without having to go outside.

Here are some of the things you can do in the Montreal Underground City:

• Shop at one of the many malls, including the Underground City's largest mall, Place Ville-Marie.

• It is home to over 2,000 businesses and organisations.

• It has a total length of over 30 kilometres (19 miles).

• It is estimated that over 5 million people use the Underground City each day.

• The Underground City is a popular tourist destination, and it is estimated that over 10 million tourists visit it each year.

The Montreal Underground City is a great place to visit if you are looking for a unique and interesting experience. It is a great way to get around the city without having to go outside.

MUSEUM AT OLYMPIC PARK

The Biodôme de Montréal is a museum located at Olympic Park and it allows visitors to walk through replicas of four ecosystems found in the Americas. The Biodôme is one of the largest natural science museum complexes in Canada. The four ecosystems represented in the Biodôme are: The Laurentian Maple Forest, The Sub-Antarctic Islands, The Tropical Rainforest and The Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The Montreal Biosphere is a museum dedicated to the environment in Montreal. It is housed in the former United States pavilion constructed for Expo 67 located within the grounds of Parc Jean-Drapeau on Saint Helen's Island. The museum's geodesic dome was designed by Buckminster Fuller, the renowned American Architect and Designer.

The Biosphere is a unique and important resource for learning about the environment. Here we can explore the museum's exhibits on climate change, water conservation and biodiversity and take a walk through the Biosphere's greenhouse, which features plants from around the world. The Biosphere's observation deck offers stunning views of Montreal and Saint Lawrence River.

ENTERTAINMENT SHOWS

Cirque du Soleil's shows are known for their high-energy performances, their innovative use of props and costumes and their unique blend of circus arts, dance and music. The company's shows are family-friendly and visually stunning. Alegria is a high-energy show that features acrobatics, juggling and dance.

Montreal, with its extremely diverse population, gives diverse culinary experiences, with restaurants serving everything from traditional Quebecois cuisine to international fare. You can find restaurants serving up cuisine from all over the world in Montreal, including Chinese, Japanese, Italian, Mexican, Thai and Indian.

The city is a foodie's paradise and has the highest ratio of cafes and dining places in the world. Being a strict vegetarian, I often find it difficult to get pure vegetarian food at eating places while traveling in Europe and North America. But Montreal is an exception with a very large number of vegan cafes and restaurants.

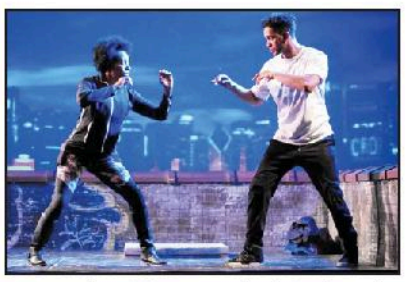
CYCLING

The city is to navigate. There is a wide network of underground metro, with a large number of city buses with the same ticket holding good for both. The city encourages cycling. Plenty of cycle renting shops can be seen bringing memories of Mysuru city decades back. There are separate cycling tracks. Often we see long bikes pedalled by two people, reminiscent of old movies. Montreal is one of the most beautiful cities I have visited. The downtown has skyscrapers interspersed with majestic old Churches and stately public buildings. The old city is typically European with its grand Cathedrals, small lanes with innumerable eating houses, with the majestic St. Lawrence River flowing and the old Port. Montreal is truly magical.

Montreal's Underground City, which is a popular tourist destination.

WORD OF THE DAY

Prowess



Pronunciation: PROW-us.
Meaning: Prowess refers to someone's great ability, skill or talent for something specified, as in "the pop star's vocal prowess" or "a lawyer of great prowess."
Origin: Prowess is a word with a lot to be proud of. Not only has it performed gallantly for the English language since the 13th century, but it has stayed relatively stalwart in hewing to its original meaning, which is quite a flex. When prowess first joined the ranks of the lexicon, it could be used to refer to bravery, skill and valour—especially those virtues as encountered in military contexts—or to individual acts of derring-do. The latter was usually used in the plural, as when people waxed rhapsodic about the "prowesses" of knights or some such. Today's "extraordinary ability" meaning, which developed in the 17th century, tends to stick to the singular form, as when it's used to describe those with intellectual prowess, or to someone known for their prowess as a fund-raiser.

THE ODD WORD

Palafitte

Prehistoric lake dwelling.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Pester power

Meaning: The power children have, by repeated nagging, of influencing their parents to buy advertised or fashionable items.
Origin: This phrase emerged in the USA in the late 1970s; for example, this from The Washington Post, February 1979:
"'They (the children) use all the pester power they can muster' to talk their parents into purchases, a narrator warned."
Children have long been able to influence what their parents bought on their behalf, by making it easier for the parents to give in than to endure relentless badgering. The fact that this wasn't a significant enough phenomenon to be given a name until the late 20th century is indicative of the changing nature of child/parent relationships in western societies. Parents are now more likely to take a child's demands seriously, whereas in earlier times they were expected to be content with whatever they were given. Also, the increased pressure on parents to work longer hours has led to a society that in increasingly cash rich and time poor, which makes it a more attractive option to buy their way out of the time-consuming task of fending off demands.
